Amnesty International

Amnesty International works impartially worldwide for the release of prisoners of conscience (men, women and children detained or otherwise physically restricted because of their opinions, religious beliefs, ethnic origin, sex or language) provided that they have not used violence, for fair and prompt trials for all political prisoners and for an end to torture and execution.

Wheaton's chapter focuses on letter writing campaigns, education of ourselves and the campus, bringing in speakers and attending conferences and activist events in Boston and other cities.

Anthropology Club

The purpose of the Anthropology club is to promote cultural diversity in the Wheaton community through various multicultural activities. The club is open to all who wish to participate and are interested in anthropology, archaeology or just "something different." Events and activities which the Anthropology club has sponsored include the annual trip to the American Anthropology Association conference, African music demonstrations and lectures, speakers from other nations, drum circles, a coffee night and informal discussion groups.

College Democrats

College Republicans

The purpose of the College Republicans is to foster and encourage the activities of the Republican Party, assist in the election of republican candidates to local, state and national office and formulate and administer programs aimed at involving college students in the Republican party.

Throughout the year the club is involved in a number of activities ranging from the participation in political campaigns, rallies, social events and debates to the attending of speeches and leadership conferences in Boston and Washington D.C.

Equestrian Team

Ice Hockey (Men's)

The men's hockey team completed another season compiling not too many wins and many more losses, while never failing to have fun. Seniors on the team were Captain Jeremy Edmonson, and Assistants Chris Kelley, Geordie Laing, Dan Babson and PJ Goldsmith. The best game of the season was by far against Lyndon State, VT where we traveled four hours with only eight guys to beat the highly favored opposition. The dedication shown to the team by these players will always be remembered. The players all want to thank head coach Peter Mari for his hard work.

Kindred Spirits

Kindred Spirits is Wheaton's science fiction, horror and fantasy club. Our collective intelligence is deeply involved in the questioning of old entertainment paradigms and the formulation of new ones. It provides a forum for the discussion of ideas, both abstract and concrete, whimsical and profound. On the abstract side, we discuss man-kind's future, and the potential danger of man-eating jumpsuits. We produce low-budget, campy films, such as "Earth versus the Mead Hunters" and "SGA Wars." Our most recent project is "Serial," a wacky take on forties movie trailers. On the concrete side, we are working on a cinderblock sale to raise money for the club.

Nike

The Nike staff works hard to produce a top quality yearbook that all students can enjoy. Each year's goal is to improve upon the last. We work closely with all groups on campus to try and achieve this goal. Our hope is that each Wheaton student will be reminded of friends and fond memories within the pages of our yearbook.

Rushlight

The purpose of Rushlight is to publish student's outstanding poetry, fiction and artwork.

Membership is open to all students at Wheaton College with an interest in magazine production.

Sailing Club

Spanish Club

Join us in one of the most active and interesting clubs on campus! The Spanish Club is an organization that celebrates all aspects of the Hispanic World, and its influence in our country. We welcome everyone at all levels of fluency, and even those who simply love the food, music, history and culture of the Hispanic World. Everyone's input is valued, and we really look forward to all our new members. Activities and events sponsored by the club include the Day of the Dead celebration, movies, lectures and dances.

Student Art League

The purpose of the Student Art League is to increase art awareness on the Wheaton campus. This involves the presentation of art exhibits, museum trips and arranging for modeling sessions.

Students Against Homophobia

Students Organized For Service

Students Organized For Service is a group of Wheaton students who are of help to others in and around the community. This year, as a group, we have participated in the annual City Year Serve-A-Thon in Boston where we turned a vacant lot into a beautiful garden, we cleaned out an attic and basement at a New Hope Women's shelter and a woman from the Providence Coalition for the Homeless spoke to us about life on the streets. We also organize food drives for the hungry outside the Wheaton community. This spring we went hiking with some inner city kids, participated in a walk to raise money for people with Multiple Sclerosis, one night we slept in the dimple to raise money for the homeless, we took the Wheatones to a local nursing home to sing for the residents and we cleaned up our campus for Spring weekend. We've had a lot of fun together! Thanks so much to our Seniors Debbie Etsten and Nina Morgenlander. Good luck!

ACTIVITIES

Convocation

"Opening convocation marks the official start of the academic year, and falls on the first day of classes. For seniors, convocation is bittersweet as it is the beginning of the end of their Wheaton careers. For most of them, it is the first time they enter through the front doors of the chapel. Convocation is not only a Wheaton tradition, but also a formal welcoming to members of each class to the Wheaton community."

S.S.S. Week

SSS: "Secret Sophomore Sibling" Silly, Stupid, Serious, FUN! S.S.S. Week was a chance for sophomores to retaliate from their experiences last year and for the freshman to let loose and be crazy. Who else but freshman would do something like this?

Autumn

Above Amy Eddy '99 says, "My first AutumnFest at Wheaton was a wonderful experience. I enjoyed the Roberta Peters concert in the chapel, the fire works, the dance at Dale's, and celebrating the school with Wheatonians of all generations. As an added bonus, I was able to spend the weekend with my Aunt Dellie Woodring, Trustee and Alumnae '62."

Memorial Service

On the afternoon of Thursday, November ninth, Wheaton students, faculty, and staff gathered in front of Cole Chapel for a community memorial service in memory of Prime Minister of Israel, Yitzhak Rabin who was assassinated on November fourth in Tel Aviv, Israel. Rabin was shot at the conclusion of a rally for peace in which one hundred thousand people participated, by a Jewish extremist. Ironically, Rabin's last words were in the form of a song about peace.

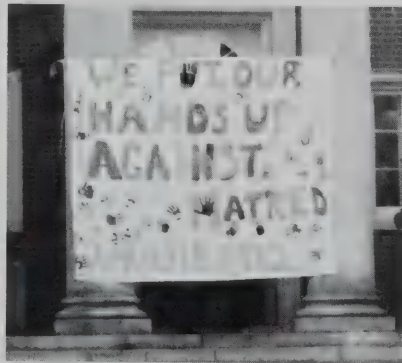

Wheaton student and member of the Jewish Student Association, Ellen Brayer said the news was "shocking! Rabin was murdered by another Jew! It's shocking and disgusting Jewish law student who what he had done. The world who was instrumental in the helped to organize the service. passage of a leader must be service gave people a place to dered by another Jew! that the assassin was a showed no remorse for has lost a great leader peace process." Brayer She continued, "The acknowledged. This mourn."

Jonathan Brumberg- and associate professor of Religion, conducted the ceremony. Professor Provost Hannah Goldberg, and Beth Rosenzweig, president of JSA contributed their remarks, and afterward Jewish prayers were read. Brayer says that she was impressed to see a large crowd gather together in front of the chapel to remember Rabin. Afterwards people remained at the chapel to continue discussion.

Speak Out

On a sunlit Friday in October the chapel bells summoned students, faculty, and staff to a noon "Speak Out" on the Green in front of the Madeline Clark Wallace Library. There, a crowd of several hundred heard a succession of angry Wheaton community members denounce the racist, antisemitic, and homophobic graffiti that had been found in several places around campus. "This behavior is unacceptable at Wheaton" was the prevailing sentiment. There was universal agreement that racial, ethnic, and homophobic slurs against ANY members of the Wheaton community were a threat and an insult to ALL its members.

International Women's Day/Month

Wheaton women participating in the
Take Back Our Lives March, Providence, RI

International Women's Day was celebrated for the 86th year nation-wide and the 5th time at Wheaton this year. This day recognizes women's work around the world. An annual lunch featuring poetry readings, women's art, music, and discussion tables were organized to facilitate discourse around issues of global feminism and the Beijing conference in particular. Students, faculty, staff, and Norton guests came together for this important event. - Jill Hauben

Diversity Working Group

The diversity working group (dwg) is a democratic grassroots coalition of Wheaton College students, staff, faculty and alumnae/i organized in the fall of 1995. The main goal of dwg is to nurture and enhance racial and ethnic diversity at Wheaton. In April 1996, dwg, in cooperation with the Multicultural Advisory Committee and the Intercultural Board, organized a quite successful ten day campus wide "Challenging Racism" teach-in. Speakers (including Andrew Hacker), videos, classroom discussions, a book fair and a dance party were among the events held during the teach-in and promoted a community dialogue about institutionalized racism. Ongoing projects of dwg include increasing the representation of students, staff, and faculty of color at the institution and transforming the curriculum on issues surrounding diversity. Everyone at Wheaton College who shares these concerns is invited to participate in the organization.

JYA Around the World

Steve Desroches, who spent the fall of '94 at the Macquarie University of Sydney, Australia, describes JYA as, "the most amazing experience of my life. I never had a chance to be bored, I went bungy jumping, white water rafting, surfing... and some studying. JYA is something I will remember for the rest of my life."

"Traveling allows the individual to grow, mature, and really open up to the world. There's so much out there to see, hear, do, and experience. Going abroad definitely was the highlight of my college career." Aimée Bosse studied in Paris Spring of '95. This photo was taken in Nice, France.

Guana- France- Japan- Australia

During my year in Japan, I learned about the culture, the history, the people, and that friendship has no boundaries.

Since I spent a whole year there, I was no longer a tourist. At first getting around Tokyo by myself was very difficult since signs were usually written (only) in Japanese, and rarely in English. After a while, and with a lot of help from maps, I learned how to go anywhere giving me confidence and a feeling of independence. Now I know my way around Tokyo better than Japanese people from outside Tokyo!

One reason I chose to go to Wheaton was because I knew that I could go abroad. My experiences in Japan have definitely changed my life. In fact, I am already planning my return visit!

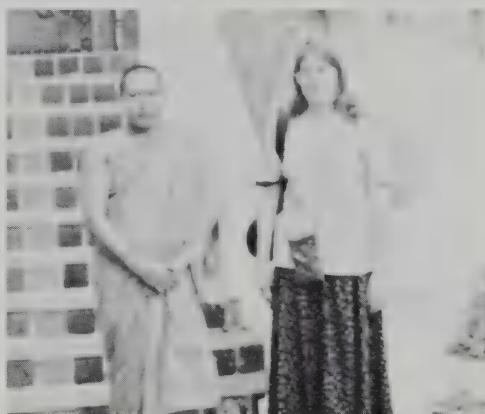

- Nina Morgenlander, pictured right with Mariko at the Kodaira Festival

I write about a place that is so divine in its beauty and cultural richness at times, my mere words alone does not do justice. I write of a place that has split its blood at the hands of invaders-- only to stand tall once again and assert its royalty. I write...

I write of a country that lays half-way across the world, near the Atlantic Ocean, where people speak many different languages; many different ethnic tribes are abundant, and where the people are multi diverse in their attire and traditions. In addition, I was welcomed into different villages- an invitation good for the rest of my life. I write...

Sam Maltese

October 31, 1974 - January 1995

Fairly late on a beautiful spring day I was walking back to my room. The buds on the trees were just starting to come out and some of the flowering trees were open, even though this night was a little cold. A little fog was rolling around on the pond--simply beautiful. I think the moon was out, but if it wasn't it should've been. Glancing over to a bench beside the pond, I spotted a young man sitting on a bench, with long dark hair, semi-slouched, in a very relaxed position. One of his legs was bent and the other outstretched, as if to trip a passerby. He was just enjoying the air--perhaps thinking about a paper, a friend, home, or a nice big bag of Doritos. It didn't really matter. He just seemed very content and comfortable. I don't know who it was on that bench, but to me it was Sam. I see him more often than I realize sometimes. I see him in all his friends and I see him in me--in a laugh, in a gesture, or a comment to a professor (B-). I'm not even sure if there was anyone on that bench at all. Nevertheless, I smiled that same smile as when I did see, muttered "love ya pal," and walked back to my room.

*This Poem Was Special To Jen:
"Comes A Dawn"

After a while you learn the subtle difference between holding a hand and changing a soul.
And you learn that love doesn't mean leaning and company doesn't mean security.
And you learn that kisses are contracts and presents are promises.
And you learn to accept your defeats with your head up and your eyes open.
And you learn to build all your roads on today because tomorrow's ground is too uncertain.
For plans and futures have a way of falling down in mid-flight.
After a while you learn that even sunshine burns if you get too much,
So you plant your own garden. And decorate your soul instead of waiting for someone to bring you flowers.
And you learn that you really can endure...
That you really are strong...
And you really do have worth...
And you learn and learn...
With every goodbye you learn...

"Jen's friendship was something to be treasured. Her smile lit up a room; her love of life enveloped others. Most memorable, however, was Jen's undying devotion to others. She was always there to unselfishly lend a hand to someone in need. When I try to describe Jen, I am reminded of a line in one of her poems: 'the sun always rises, so I can see the light.'
Jen you will always be a special part of my life."

--Love, Rice Wales

"Jen's friendship was the kind of friendship that comes along once in a lifetime. Jen filled my first two years at Wheaton with love, laughter, and wonderful memories. Jen's love of people and animals influenced her whole outlook on life. Her caring, selfless manner, was loved by many. In addition, Jen was one of the most motivated, ambitious people I've ever known. She put all of herself in all that she did. When I think of Jen today, I have a crystal clear picture of her in my mind. She has that wonderful beaming smile you could always find across her face. It is bright enough to light the world...which is exactly what she did.

I love you and miss you, Jen. You will always be very close to my heart."

--Love, Kim Tobin

It is unimaginable that Jen would not be graduating with us. Her love of Wheaton was apparent in all that she did for the community. Jen, however, will always be a member of the class of 1996.

startle us anew.

There aren't many left like us.
We are the ones who walk on water
They thrive on the fact that we can.
We reached for the stars,
And they gave us ladders.
We grasped at the stars,

They told us to try for the moon.
We never knew we could.

They always encouraged with the tools
and the knowledge.
We now leave with the ladder,
the stars and the moon. ...
thanks for the best years of our lives, may they be with us forever.
